O.D.K. MODIFIES POINT SYSTEM FOR INDUCTING

Selection of Campus Leaders To Supplant Costly Point System of Pledging Members

NEW REGULATIONS EFFECTIVE IN FALL

Change Announced Yesterday By R. D. McIntyre, Faculty Member

Drastic changes in the selection of future Omicron Delta Kappa, campus leadership fraternity, members were revealed late yesterday afternoon by Prof. R. D. McIntyre, faculty member of the fraternity.

The action expected to be taken by the campus leaders group follows a long period of controversy over the worth of professionals which have no other requirements to entrance than that of a financial nature. Honorary, as differentiated from professionals, will not be included under the new ruling.

Because the present point system depends so greatly upon the minor honoraries of the campus, Omicron Delta Kappa was moved to make the change. It was announced. In the past, so many honoraries served not only as a stepping stone into O. D. K., but were a costly proposition to the students, that the possibility of their elimination from the campus induced O. D. K. to make the change.

Tentative plans call for the selection of campus leaders rather than mere "activity" men, it was stated by members of the fraternity. The system will go into effect with the fall pledging of next semester.

"Midsummer Nights Dream" To Be Shown At Local Theater

Shakespeare's Play Is Filled With Hollywood Stars; Reinhardt Directs

"A Midsummer Nights Dream," Warner Brothers' mammoth spectacle of William Shakespeare's famous work, under the direction of Max Reinhardt, will be shown at the Strand theatre Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

The mighty epic is produced and directed by Max Reinhardt assisted by William Dieterle. Dances are directed by Bronislaw Nijinska and Nina Thellade and are set to the beautiful music of Mendelssohn as arranged by Erich Wolfgang. The all-star cast is headed by James Cagney, Joe E. Brown, Dick Powell, Victor Jory, Verree Teasdale, Hugh Herford, Anita Louise, Frank McHugh and scores of others. The screen play is by Charles Kenyon and Mary McCall, Jr. Costumes are by Max Ree, noted designer.

This production marks a triumph for Max Reinhardt, brought to Hollywood after he remodeled three centuries of stage tradition. It seemed a foregone conclusion when he came to Hollywood that he would ignore the supposed limits of camera technique and set new boundaries for the picture screen. Hollywood expected it, and Reinhardt came up to the expectations. With "Midsummer Nights Dream" he has shattered the comparatively young precedents of the screen.

McIntyre Stresses Sales Personality

Talks to Optimist Club on Qualifications Required in Salesmen

The importance of personality in salesmanship was emphasized by Prof. R. D. McIntyre in his talk to the Optimist Club at the Lafayette hotel Thursday on "The Qualifications of a Successful Salesman."

These qualifications, Prof. McIntyre said, include knowledge of materials to be sold, personality, intelligence, power of observation, courtesy, enthusiasm and cooperation. He pointed out that business men visiting the university in search of salesmen stress the importance of personality in employing men.

The short talk was concluded by Professor McIntyre reading selections from "Letters of an Old-Time Salesman to His Son."

Glee Club Returns From Concert Tour

The University of Kentucky's Men's Glee club returned Sunday from a tour of Western Kentucky where they gave performances at high schools in Louisville, Madisonville, Morgantown, Sturgis and Paducah.

The entire group was entertained Thursday by E. B. Glen, Principal of Shawnee High School in Louisville. Mr. Glen presented to Prof. C. A. Lanier, director of the organization, a baton in appreciation of his service. Friday the Glee club was honored with a dance at Morgantown given by a local fraternity. Saturday the group was entertained by the Sturgis Parent-Teachers association, and Sunday they were guests of Mr. George Duncan in Russellville.

Mary Louise McKenna, and Ruth Clifton were with the group as soloists and dramatic interpreter, respectively. John Tracy Toohy was the accompanist for the club.

Passion Play Character Interviewed By Reporter

By E. H. Muehler

The Virgin Mary gave me an interview Saturday!

Miss Amy Rutz, native of Oberammergau, Bavaria, exchange student at Rollins College, Florida, who has been visiting in Lexington for a few days, plays the part of the Virgin Mary in the famous Passion Play, which is given every ten years at Oberammergau, beginning 1633 when the inhabitants of that village were rescued from a plague and vowed that they would perform the play as a gesture of thanks to the Almighty for their deliverance.

"Only the people of the village of Oberammergau are allowed to be in the play," Miss Rutz said. "The children of the town are taken into training as soon as they are old enough to realize the meaning of it. It becomes their chief interest. If you were to pass through the streets you would see them playing in the courtyards, not at the ordinary games that most children play, but pretending that they are on the stage presenting the Passion Play." Miss Rutz then discussed the play.

"The stage is immense, it has to be, for in the scene of the 'rebellion' there are seven hundred persons on the stage, not counting the

UK TENNIS TEAM DOWNS VOLS 5-2 IN S. E. C. MATCH

Moore, Stahr, Evans Play Exceptional Singles Game To Win; Montgomery Is Victor In Initial Match

TULLOCH LOSES ONLY SINGLES MATCH 6-0, 7-5

Moore, Stahr Drop Doubles To Krissle, Marshall; Tulloch and Evans Win

Starting on their quest for the championship of the Southeastern conference, the University of Kentucky tennis team was victorious in their first match, against the University of Tennessee. The Wildcats won by the score of five matches to two.

In the singles, the play of Jimmie Moore was again exceptionally brilliant. Playing in number one position against Krissle, Moore emerged the victor in a long three-set battle by the score of 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. Moore featured a well rounded all court game and was very good on making seemingly impossible gets at the net, which he put away for points. His opponent "dubbed" many shots at the net but had an excellent back court game.

Elvis Stahr won in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4. Like the first match, the net play of Stahr was the deciding factor of the game. Both players appeared inconsistent and ragged at times, but Stahr had enough to win out in the end.

In the quickest match of the day, Bobby Evans trounced his opponent Beene, by the score of 6-2, 6-1. Evans continued his fine competitive play, which was characteristic of him against Wayne. Many times he passed his opponent down the sideline, when he would attempt to come to the net. Beene was too inconsistent and did not play a game powerful enough to cope with the steady game of his Kentucky rival.

Francis Montgomery, a newcomer to the Kentucky team by virtue of his victory over Randall in a contest during the week, proved his merit by winning his first match 6-2, 6-3. Playing a consistent deep game Montgomery wore his opponent (Continued on Page Four)

Mortar Board Will Pledge Outstanding Women on May Day

Mortar Board, senior women's honorary fraternity, will pledge several outstanding junior women, at the May Day convocation to be held on Friday, May 1, in the Training School auditorium.

Mortar Board is the highest honor which a junior woman can receive on the campus. The women will be tapped by active members in the annual ceremony which takes place on many other campuses at the same time.

Pledges are selected on the basis of scholarship, service to the University, and outstanding leadership. Active members who will tap the pledges are Martha Christian, Frances Kerr, Martha Pugett, Betty Moffett, Isabella Nadelstein, Virginia Murrell, and Mary Gunn Webb.

DR. McHALE TO BE FETED

The American association of university women will give a dinner at the Lexington Country club Monday, May 4, in honor of Dr. Kathryn McHale, general director of the association, and Mrs. F. C. Atkinson, national chairman of the Fellowship endowment committee.

The American association of university women will give a dinner at the Lexington Country club Monday, May 4, in honor of Dr. Kathryn McHale, general director of the association, and Mrs. F. C. Atkinson, national chairman of the Fellowship endowment committee.

When I asked her how the characters of the play were chosen, she beamed with pride and said: "The townspeople present plays during the summers, not merely plays from the Scriptures, but many modern plays also. There is a committee of twenty which then chooses those who are to act according to the ability that they have shown in the preceding plays."

Miss Rutz then glanced at her wrist watch. After all, she had sandwiched in the interview between a shopping tour in Lexington and her departure for Indianapolis where she was to give a lecture on Sunday. Thus ended my interview with the Virgin Mary, one of the most amiable people I have ever had the pleasure of talking to. She has straight-forward grey eyes, and blonde hair, which she combs back severely, but very attractively, from her face. She is small and svelt, with graceful movements, and a true Bavarian way of making a person feel absolutely at home the moment he speaks to her.

Cut Penalty Will Not Be Enforced

All classes will be dismissed after the second hour Friday in order that students may attend the May Day festivities, the Registrar has announced. Announcement was also made that the rule regarding absence before and after a holiday will not be enforced.

Strollers Prepare For Opening Night Of Melodrammer

Curtain to Rise On "Fashion" Wednesday, May 6, At Training School

By CLIFF SHAW

"Villain! Must the only seal upon that scoundrel's lips be placed there by the hand of my only daughter?"

Bang! Bang!

"Hey, youse guys, cut out that hammering."

"Pipe down, you ham. Hand me that saw, Stooze. Watch it, don't let that wall fall."

Crash! Bang!

"Where in hades is the count? Ah, there he is, dancing with the French maid out in the hall. Hey, count, any time today."

Slam! Crash! Bang!

"Ah, my petite belle, were you plucking roses for me?"

"Cut, cut. Start that scene again."

No, friends, it's not the crazy house. It's merely the cast of Stroller's spring production, "Fashion," busily rehearsing while the stage crew works merrily and noisily on the sets, indifferent, as are all stage hands, to any slight noise or confusion that they may be causing!

For weeks the cast has been rehearsing nightly for the 1850 melodrama which is to be presented Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week. The girls in charge of costumes have been ransacking attics, old trunks, junk stores and other likely places for bustles, mid-Victorian dresses, peg-top trousers and Prince Alberts.

Publicity men and business managers, their heads full of facts and figures, have been rushing madly about, organizing ticket-sellers, arranging radio programs and demanding space in the local newspapers.

In short, the cast of "Fashion," the members of Strollers, and Miss Mary Wood Brown, the director, are as busy as the proverbial bee in order that on Wednesday night, when the curtain goes up at the Training School auditorium, the assembled multitude will enjoy and hour and forty-five minutes of laughter, drama and "what have you," presented in the best 1850 manner.

NYA EXHIBITION IS IN LEXINGTON

Display Depicting Programs Work in Kentucky Located in Old Phoenix National Bank Building

In connection with the state-wide WPA program, an exhibit of pictures and charts depicting the NYA program in Kentucky will be set up today in the old Phoenix National Bank building on West Main street between Limestone and Upper streets, according to an announcement by F. D. Peterson, state director of the National Youth Administration.

The exhibit will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., and students and townspeople are invited to inspect it. R. K. Salyers, assistant state director of the NYA, Katherine Jones, supervisor of Fayette county NYA projects, and Dan Goodman, supervisor of Lexington research projects, will be in charge of the showing. This collection is being shown at 35 different points throughout the state in order that the public may know what these federal projects are accomplishing.

More than 600 students in the University benefited from the NYA program this year, according to Mr. Peterson. Over 2800 college students throughout the state are working on NYA projects, and about NYA lists in 112 of Kentucky's 120 counties. Approximately 10,000 youths out of school are also benefited by the NYA.

LATEST EDITION OF 'SOURMASH' TO BE RELEASED

Campus Sweetheart Contest Winner To Be Announced In Publication Out May 1

WILL HAVE PICTURE OF NEW MAY QUEEN

Prize Winning Short Story "Many Redeeming Features" Is Included

By CLIFF SHAW

Containing the long-awaited announcement of the Campus Sweetheart, short stories, original jokes of the college variety, cartoons, and many other features, the second edition of "Sour Mash," campus humor magazine, will be out May 1. It will contain a picture of the Campus Sweetheart and the newly-elected May Queen, Miss Lillian Holmes. Snapshots of last year's May Day celebration will also be included.

The prize winning short story for the May Day edition was written by Capel McNash, sophomore in the Arts and Science college. It is called "Many Redeeming Features" and is the story of an English boy who comes to America to school and falls in love with an American girl. His attempts to master modern slang provide much amusement throughout the story. The short-story "The Death of a Clever Man" was written by Don Irvine, freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences. Bob Hess, former scandal monger of The Kentucky Kernel is the author of a review of the popular dance bands of today.

One of the interesting features of the magazine is an excerpt from the 1933 Kentuckian which tells of the graduation of "Happy" Chandler from the University. Included in this issue are cartoons by Don Irvine and Walter Milen, and many original jokes, as well as some "swiped" from other college humor magazines.

The cover of the thirty-two page "Sour Mash" drawn by George Ochs, will be in colors, and will be "varnished," a process which insures a smooth, clear finish.

YMCA Cabinet To Entertain Guest Y's Tuesday Night

The senior and freshman cabinets of the Y. M. C. A. will entertain representatives of Berea college, Eastern State Teachers college, Centre college, Transylvania college and Kentucky State Industrial institute at their regular cabinet meeting Tuesday night.

The various colleges will present programs which will be followed by a general discussion on "The Y. M. C. A. on the College Campus". The purpose of the meeting is to return visits made by the University Y. M. C. A. during the past year.

Donald Riebler, president of the Y. M. C. A., will preside over the meeting.

ROBINSON WINS PRIZE
Virginia Robinson, Lexington, president of the W. S. G. A., was awarded third prize in a recent contest co-sponsored by the Courier-Journal and the Kentucky League of Women Voters on the subject "The Merit vs. The Spoils System in Our Government." Seventy-eight contestants from all over the state tried for the prizes.

Spring Is Actually Here, Remarks U. K. Journalist

Attention, lovers, sweethearts, and other romantically inclined individuals! Spring is here. This is a well known fact and one that hardly needs mentioning. The robins are singing, the grass is getting greener, baseballs are flying through the air, the crack of the bat on ball resounds throughout the campus, and class attendances are dwindling day by day.

Old Sol beams down from his lofty perch in the sky and spreads his warming and invigorating rays upon the budding earth. The sunsets are lovely things of bright crimson, orange and yellow. The nights are half cool, half warm, with a touch of summer that is irresistible and inviting. The full moons are personal invitations of every pair of young lovers to come outside under their magic spell and forget lessons and school.

At this time of the year every young lover on the campus becomes a scientist. Believe it or not! In fact, his enthusiasm, if directed to the classroom or laboratory would so astound the prof that he would undoubtedly think he were dreaming. But is a singular fact that these romantically inclined persons only direct their efforts toward one branch of science. And that branch, strange to say, is botany. It's the truth. If you don't believe it, just stroll toward the botanical garden most any warm, starlit night, and

PRICE OF DICTATORSHIP

The advantages and disadvantages of an autonomic government have been set out many times by its friends and foes. Recently comes to light, however, the greatest instance of the power which is at the disposal of a dictator and the manner in which he can misuse it.

Published in an anti-Fascist journal in Paris and translated by The Manchester Guardian were a list of secret instructions sent by Mussolini to all newspapers of Italy, in which rules were laid down as to just what the press of that country could and could not comment upon. It was indicated that these instructions are being sent in short, regular intervals to all newspapers. No doubt such a plan was formulated to lessen any chance of Mussolini's demise of power as a result of the Ethiopian campaign.

The instructions themselves were clear-cut and dogmatic and leave no chance whatever for the individual editor to use his own judgment as to what should be printed in his own publication. Some examples are: February 15—(1) Attenuate the Blum affair and the disbanding of the French Fascist Leagues; (2) Cut down messages from abroad; (3) No interest to be shown in the oil embargo; (4) Nothing more to be said about the Stress Front and the watch on the Brenner.

American journalists could hardly conceive of receiving such instructions from our government. It demonstrates clearly how far an autocrat will go to further his own ends; far enough, in fact, to deprive his people of reliable press reports. It is merely one of the penalties that people of Italy and other dictatorial countries pay for autocracy.

A good speaker is one who says the things you would like to think of to say them if you thought of them.—Heron Lake News.

The new regime has come in and here I am still plugging along. Must not have been as terrible as Bottles made me out or else they are letting me stay on until someone better comes along. Whatever it is, the matter stands that you all will put up with me a little longer, after all it's only about eight more issues until school is out, which is an extremely short time, especially if you have gotten behind in your work. And so to press:

Bank Night

Threats of calling in the police were heard down at the Kentucky theatre Friday night when the three bank night judges, Billie Holiday, Dot Hazelrigg and Mary Buck drew as the lucky person, Elaine Jones, ALSO of Patterson Hall, University of Kentucky. However, Elaine was campused at that time so trouble was averted. Imagine her chagrin.

Bert Jr. Has Dad
Make His Public
Statement for Him

The proud father of Albert Edward Johnson, Jr., beamed when questioned as to his feelings now that he has a young heir.

"Well," the genial all-Southeastern halfback smiled, "I do feel different. I guess. Makes me feel like I had more responsibility or something."

Little Albert Edward himself just couldn't be reached.

"I am making all of his public statements for the present," Bert grinned, "he isn't talking much to anybody right now; seems like he just wants to think, so I guess he'll be a pretty smart boy."

ball players have? Ah, such purity.

Billy Lancaster has taken a turn for the worse and has become quite a recluse. It might be on account of his love, Betsy Allen, leaving school due to illness. But buck up, Bill, September is just around the corner.

Johnson, who has had an injured foot, vehemently denied the report that he threw away his crutches when informed of the arrival of the boy. He did admit, however, that he discarded them on the following day.

Now as to football. Is he looking forward to a Rose Bowl trip next season?

"One thing is sure," Bert said, "Coach Wynne is really going to put out a fine team next season. It will be one of the best to ever represent Kentucky."

A Man Can Marry A Rib, a Spare Rib Or Several Limbs

A rib is what a man marries; some marry even spare ribs. Women have two legs, two manicured hands, and always two arms to strangle one, but never more than one dress, or less than two confused ideas at any one time. Unlike ivory soap, women are never 99 and 44 one-hundredths per cent pure. Generally speaking they may be divided into two classes—intoxicating curves and old maids. An eligible old maid is a woman of kindness and willingness. Wives are of three varieties—poor dancers but willing, beautiful but dumb, and platinum blondes. Making a wife out of a woman is like stretching cement. It requires force, elbow grease, patience, a bank account (preferably a bank). It is a psychological marvel that a stalwart, well-groomed, energetic young man should enjoy kissing a puff-blowered and come-hither-violet-smelling thing, but we men can take it. If you flatter a woman, she thinks you will marry her, and if you don't she feels that you are shy but willing. If she permits you to make love to her, watch your step, if she doesn't, find out what is wrong with you. If you wear loud colors, she thinks you are a city slicker, and if you wear conservative clothes, she feels you commune with the stars and write poetry or were brought up by your grandmother. And, finally, you can't get together with a girl when you converse with her for when you mention Christmas night, she thinks of perfume; when you talk of a bank, she thinks of stockings; when you think of Chicago, she thinks of Lady Esther; you think of a bench in the park, she thinks of Park avenue.

Ellington And Orchestra Will Appear In City

Duke Ellington, widely known negro orchestra leader, and his famous orchestra will return to Lexington Wednesday evening, April 29 for an engagement at the Rose Garden at Mill and Cedar streets. The program will include a trucking contest at 8 o'clock. A special section will be reserved for white patrons. Tickets are on sale at the Marble Pharmacy, 119 N. Broadway.

Born in Washington, D. C., Ellington holds a unique place in the field of music. Since his appearance at Harlem's famous Cotton Club December 4, 1927, he has skyrocketed to fame with radio, phonograph recordings, musical comedies, vaudeville and concert engagements that have kept him and his orchestra busy. Duke seldom speaks of his own compositions, and admits that his pet aversion is the newspapers and magazines that misquote him. His most famous compositions are: "Mood Indigo," "Solitude," "Sophisticated Lady," "Black and Blue Fantasy," "Creole Rhapsody," and his latest "In a Sentimental Mood."

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX

By JOE QUINN
Kernel Sports Editor

Tuesday Sport Talk... In which your correspondent meanders... Gene Bryant didn't like the write-up he was given in last Friday's Kernel... It was in the form of a personal interview and Gene could not recall having made any statements about the subject upon which he was quoted... Football practice has been tucked away for another spring and from the present indication just in time to save the gridders from sweating away several of those excess pounds... Coach Wynne would like to have continued for a little longer but he said the boys were beginning to go stale from the training.

And speaking of Coach Wynne reminds us of the remark he made the other day... during the practice games one of the managers keeps a detailed account of the mistakes the players commit while going through the various plays... the coaches call out the mistakes to the manager who writes them down for future reference... One of the assistant coaches noted "Cub" Curtis, going through his assignment on the "32" play rather nonchalantly... "Curtis walking on '32," the coach said. Coach Wynne, who was standing next to the manager, said, "Don't bother putting that down, that's all Curtis ever does on that play."

Harry Stuldreher, quarterback of the Four Horsemen, has been selected for the Wisconsin coaching job... after half the nation's coaches were supposed to be lined up for the berth... Stuldreher switched from Villanova where he has turned out some good teams.

Three of the University's best golfers are not swinging clubs with the varsity team... Earl Stokes, a senior, is ineligible as he competed for another school before entering the University; Jack Mohnney, another of the better nibblek wielders, is also ineligible, while Harold Mandly, a Hartford, Conn., freshman, is unable to compete because of the first-year ruling... Stokes and Mohnney are both prominent in state golfing circles while Mandly is the present New England amateur champion.

Some of his fraternity brothers have nominated Pete Rehniger for "most athletic" on the dance floor... It looks as if he has the position clinched... a lot of the boys like that new diamond ball field between Stoll field and the gym... that location has finally found some use... and the wall around the field is almost completed... it's going to look good, if nothing else.

Aside to our New Britain correspondent... got your letter and thanks for the information... glad to hear that you've secured us some new readers up there... give them our regards.

We were told that "there isn't much space today" so we may as well get off the line here. But then, we've heard that so often before.

The "Sourmash," which will make its second appearance of the year May Day, will feature the result of the Campus Sweetheart election.

when Marshall, a member of the victorious Volunteer basketball team, defeated George Tulloch 6-0, 7-5. Although he held a 5-2 lead in games in the second set, Tulloch could not capture the set. The ability Marshall demonstrated in covering the court was remarkable and he caused many sighs from the spectators because of his gets both at the net and in the back court. Tulloch was below his usual standard in the first set and regained some of his form for a time in the second set, but weakened toward the end.

The number one doubles team of the Wildcats, Moore and Stahr, lost to the Volunteer combination of Kriste and Marshall 6-4, 9-7. Marshall's play was the dominating factor of this match. Continually he made shots down the lines for points against his opponents at crucial times.

Tulloch and Evans defeated Sten-Knecht and Rogers for the final victory of the Kentucky team, 6-2, 6-8, 6-1. The work of Evans and Tulloch was bright in the first and third set but they slipped in the second. It was the court covering of Evans and the deep court driving game of Tulloch that decided this match.

Dean Sarah Blanding, Mrs. Sarah Holmes, Mrs. Mary Lee Collins, and members of the board of Control of the women's residence halls will spend Wednesday in Louisville, inspecting new equipment for the residence halls.
